RPM Outdoors Fishing Camp For Boys

A happy boy in the "Great Marsh" ecosystem

It is our pleasure here at RPM Outdoors that you would consider putting your son or sons in our care for a week or more of fishing and learning during their summer break. It is our belief that there is no better way for a boy to spend free time in the summer than in the outdoors fishing.

The backdrop of this experience will be the coastal estuaries from Hampton, NH south to the jagged coastline of Gloucester, Mass. Our goal is to thoroughly introduce your children to the world of fishing and in doing so, giving them a greater appreciation for the natural world and the ecosystem that exists off the New England coast.

Our camp director is Reilly McCue. He studied wildlife biology at the University of Vermont. Taught for the prestigious outdoor program at Camp Pemi summer camp for boys for 13 summers and is a United States Coast Guard Captain. Reilly has also had a background check to obtain a "TWIC" card from the department of Homeland Security.

Summer sessions run Monday through Friday from late June through the end of August. Daily fishing hours are from 8AM to 3PM each day. The class size is limited to 6 boys per instructor and the classes are available for boys 12 years of age and older.

The fishing week begins on Monday where we will all meet at Cashman Park in Newburyport, Massachusetts at 8AM. This will be our normal time and place for dropping off your sons. The daily pickup will also be here at 3PM. The rest of the day your son or sons will be learning the art of angling out on the scenic North Shore.

The programs that we offer each week change. Some weeks are geared towards beginning anglers while other weeks offer more experienced lads a challenging curriculum. Some of the programs this year include:

Spin fishing for beginners
Advanced angling
First time fly fishing
Advanced fly fishing

We offer something for all levels of experience!!
